DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As per claim 1, it is indefinite as to what "a first one", line 3, refers to. It also indefinite as to what it means by the recitations "for each data value member determining a window around a current data value of data values", lines 3-4. It is unclear how "a current data value" relates to "each data value member". Further, "utilised" and "utilising" should be --utilized--and utilizing--respectively; this problem is also found in claims 2,8 and 9.

As per claim 2, line 6, "ofcomputer" and "over previously" should be --of computer-- and --of previously--, respectively.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gonikberg et al (6,018,755).

Gonikberg et al. discloses in figure 1 computer system with a memory (40) as a primary memory storage for storing a sliding window of consecutive L2 data values (D) required to calculate a formula (see col. 4, lines 50-67), wherein data are loaded into the same portion of the memory over locations of previously loaded data value using an address determined by a modulo arithmetic operator (127) as claimed.

4. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wang (5,548,543).

Wang discloses in figure 1 system with a memory (delay elements) as a primary memory storage for storing a sliding window of consecutive data values (x, y) required to calculate a formula. Wang also discloses in col. 3, lines 65-67, that the memory (delay elements) in actual computer implementation are simulated by modular ring buffers which is addressed by a modulo arithmetic operator (127) as claimed.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
